

B. & O. S-W. FIREMAN SERIOUSLY HURT

Charles Cordell, of Seymour, Injured at Medora When Engine Flue Blew Out.

ACCIDENT FRIDAY EVENING

Cordell Brought Here and Taken to the Schneck Hospital.—Part of Skull Removed.

Charles Cordell, a fireman on the B. & O. S-W. was seriously hurt about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon at Medora. He was firing on eastbound local freight No. 32. The train was late and had just pulled into Medora when a flue blew out. Cordell either by the force of the explosion was blown off or jumped and struck the ground on his head with great force sustaining dangerous injuries. Dr. Matlock of Medora, was called at once and cared for the injured man until the arrival of the eastbound passenger No. 8 when he was brought to Seymour. When he reached here, though in a dazed condition, he was able with assistance to alight from the train. An ambulance and the local surgeons for the road were waiting and he was taken to the Schneck Memorial hospital, being the first patient to be taken to that institution.

After a careful examination a section of the front of his skull was removed. It can not be determined yet how serious the injury will prove as there is danger of complications arising but it is hoped they may be averted. Besides the injuries to his head the man suffered a bad cut under his left arm.

Mr. Cordell's home is at the corner of Fourth and Bill streets and he has been firing on the B. & O. S-W. about seven months. Formerly he drove a wagon for the Travis Carter Company and is well known in this city.

William Lloyd was the engineer on No. 32 at the time of the catastrophe but escaped injury. Following the explosion the engine went dead almost instantly. The freight was switched from the main track by the engine from the passenger train in order to allow the latter to pass.

The accident yesterday was the third or fourth serious one on the road during the past year resulting from the bursting of flues.

Railroad men say that the noise and force of the explosion when a flue is blown out causes many men to jump from their engines and that probably more are injured in jumping than are directly injured by the blowing out of the flue.

One engineer stated this morning that during his service four flues had been blown out of engines of which he was in charge but that no one had been hurt.

More Evidence Needed.

Strangers in the city who take in the sights, and who do not discriminate as to the company they keep, will find little sympathy if they refer their troubles to Judge Collins, in the city court. In the case of George Williams, a farmer, from Seymour, who alleged that a woman named Mabel Moore had made away with $135, the court ruled that in no case would the unsupported word of a man be taken against that of a woman. The case of the woman was continued until next week, but unless Williams can produce further evidence that the woman took the money from him, the case will not be referred to the grand jury.

John Kane, arrested for complicity with the woman in the game, was bound over to the grand jury, with bond placed at $1,000.

In making her defense the Moore woman acknowledged having been with Williams, and said that he was drunk the night in question. She also admitted having $75 belonging to the man, which money she said he had given to her.—Indianapolis News.

SAME NAME CAUSE OF WRONG REPORT

Lawrence F. Converse, Held as Prisoner in Mexico, is Not Son of Former Seymour Resident.

MANY HAVE MADE INQUIRY

Citizen Who Has Visited Juarez, Gives Description of the Mexican Jail There.

From the newspaper dispatches from Mexico it was learned that a young American citizen by the name of Lawrence F. Converse was being held in the jail at Juarez, and it was believed that the unfortunate prisoner was the son of Dr. C. C. Converse, formerly of this city. A telephone message, however, was received by the Republican this morning from Dr. Ray V. Converse, of Indianapolis, that the young man who was held in Mexico was not his brother and was no relative of the family. As the American prisoners are in danger of being killed unless some action is taken by the State Department, there was much interest in the report of the arrest. The prisoner gave his address as Glendora, California, and as it was known that Converse had located in the west after leaving here, it was thought he was probably the prisoner held.

In speaking of the jail at Juarez, Mexico, a prominent citizen, who has spent some time in that city said it was a deplorable place. It is circular in shape, and the cells face an inner court. The prisoners are permitted to enter this court at certain times during the day, and are even allowed to sell articles which they make to visitors. Surrounding the jail is a high wall with a gateway on the street. Stationed at the gate are two guards with a third sentinel on guard in the inner court. Some of the prisoners who are held upon more serious charges are placed in cells back of the row adjoining the court, and these are not permitted to talk with any one except the guards who bring them their meals. Across the street from the jail is a large cathedral.

The man who gave the description said that the son of General Madero, the leader of the insurrectionists, lived across the street from his rooming house in Juarez and that he had seen him frequently.

M. W. Richards, of the Purdue experimental station, returned home this morning after spending several days at the Jackson orchard. He will return next week and complete his work. He reports that the prospects are fine for a good apple crop this summer.

George L. Finke, who has been working at Portland, Oregon, for several months, has returned home for a visit with his father. He expects to return in the fall. He says that land sells for $125 to $300 per acre and that the wages for farm employees are good. Grain, hops and potatoes are the principal crops.

ELECT OFFICERS.

County S. S. Convention Holds Closing Meeting at Surprise.

The program of the closing day of the Jackson County Sunday School Convention at Surprise Friday was carried out with only a few necessary changes from the printed program as published a few days ago. The closing address of the convention by Prof. R. A. Ogg was from the subject, "The Man Nicodemus." Nicodemus was not a coward, but went to Jesus by night that he might more closely learn about Him and His work. Jesus recognized this by giving to Nicodemus the clearest teaching we have of the new birth. Development of power comes when we are alone with God. To get alone with God is the supreme opportunity of a human soul. The address was greatly appreciated as were all of the addresses made by Prof. Ogg at the Convention. At the afternoon session the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, James Marsh, Reddingtown.
Vice President, Mrs. Sarah Findley, Brownstown.
Secretary and Treasurer, Miss Kate Beikman, Redding township.
Department Superintendents as follows:
Home, D. W. White, Hamilton township.
Adult, J. E. Graham, Seymour.
Elementary, Miss Grace Love, Seymour.
Temperance, Mrs. R. R. Short, Redding township.
Teacher Training, W. N. Nelson, Hamilton township.
Missionary, Miss Ida Perry, Brownstown.

TAX BOARD TO BE BUSY.

First Sitting April 3.—McCardle to Give Way to a New Member.

Persons, firms and corporations whose property is subject to assessment by the state board of tax commissioners, will receive this week, formal notices of the approaching session of the tax board, which will begin the first sitting April 3. The second sitting will begin July 4, and the third and final sitting July 17. The first session will have in hand the assessment of properties, the second will handle appeals from the assessments of the first session and the third will take up appeals from county boards of review.

John W. McCardle, senior member of the board, will retire the opening day of the session, when his commission expires. The vacancy will be filled by the Governor, who is expected to announce the appointment shortly after he returns from the south.

Because of the assessments of real estate by the state board and county boards this year, the tax commissioners expect the session to be an unusually light one.

FIRST WIRELESS RECEIVED HERE

Message Over the Marconi System Sent to the Blish Milling Company From Dublin, Ireland.

CONTAINED ONE CODE WORD

Delivered Friday Morning and Was an Answer to a Message Sent From Here Thursday Night.

The first wireless message ever sent to this city from a foreign country was received Friday morning by the Blish Milling Company from a firm in Dublin, Ireland. The message which was regarding an order for five thousand sacks of flour, was in answer to a cablegram sent by the Blish Company late Thursday night. The few hours from the time the first message was given and the answer was received shows the dispatch with which the business of modern mills and manufacturing plants is conducted.

The Blish Milling Company has received several wireless messages sent from ships which were several days at sea, but this is the first message which has been received here from a city across the ocean by the Marconi wireless system. The message is written in code, and contained one word, "Sera-jero" the meaning of which is known only to the parties interested. By the use of the code system the contents of the message is kept from all persons except those who have the key, and a larger amount of information can be transmitted at a less expense than if each word was used.

The wireless was sent from Dublin to the Marconi station at Glace Bay, Nova Scotia, and from that station transmitted over the Postal Telegraph lines to Chicago and then to Seymour. Upon the telegram it is indicated that the message was sent over the Marconi system.

The Blish Milling Company is receiving a large number of orders from different parts of the United States for their "Honey Boy" self-raising flour. During the last two months 5,030 barrels of this flour have been sold in the states of Florida and Georgia.

ROSS

JACKSON STILL LEADS

This County Has Highest Birth Rate For February.

Jackson county had the highest birth rate of any county in the state for February, which is the fourth consecutive month she has been in the lead. The birth date for the state was 20 per cent, while that of this county was 31. There were a total of 4,578 births in the state during the month. The lowest rate was in Union county which had a rate of 7.5 per cent.

There was a slight increase in the death rate for the state last month for the corresponding month in 1910. The rate for the month this year was 14, while a year ago it was 13.4. The total deaths numbered 2,908, and of these, 411 or 14.1 per cent., were among children under one year of age. Deaths of persons over sixty-five years numbered 980, of 33.6 per cent. of the total.

Tuberculosis, during the month, killed 350 people; in the corresponding month of last year it killed 387. Other causes of death were as follows: Typhoid fever, 36; diphtheria, 33; scarlet fever, 17; measles, 26; whooping cough, 15; pneumonia, 398; rabies, 1; diarrhoeal diseases, 45; cerebro spinal fever, 398; influenza, 156; cancer, 149; violence, 150.

Poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) caused four deaths. The state board has again sounded a warning against this disease, believing it will become epidemic when warm weather sets in.

Influenza was the most prevalent disease with tonsillitis second and bronchitis third. Pneumonia was sixth in prevalence although one of the common diseases in point of deaths caused.

TERM OF OFFICE EXTENDED

Township Trustees Will Hold Over For Two Years.

Under a late law passed by the last legislature all the township trustees of Jackson county will hold their offices two years longer than the term for which they were elected. As they were elected at the general election in 1908 their terms would have expired on December 31, 1912 had it not been for the new law. This law provides that they shall hold their office until the election in 1914.

The purpose for extending the time of office is that the vote is usually light in an "off year" election, and more interest will be shown in the election if an additional number of local officers are elected. It is argued that much interest is always shown in the election of the township trustees and that more voters will register their votes if that office is to be filled.

COLORED WORKMEN LEFT BROWNSTOWN

Went There to Work on Court House. But Were Unable to Find Living Accommodations.

SLEPT AT POOR FARM ON NIGHT

Brownstown Has Not Had A Colored Person Among its Citizens for Thirty Years.

Because of the difficulty experienced in finding living accommodations four colored men, who were taken to Brownstown by a contractor to work on the courthouse, have shaken the dust of that town from their feet and departed for communities where their surroundings will be more agreeable. There are no colored people living within ten miles of Brownstown and the laborers were unable to find a place to lodge.

One of the hotels agreed to furnish the men their meals if they would eat in a separate room from the other guests, but only one meal was served when they were notified that the arrangement was not satisfactory. As they were unable to find rooming quarters about the town, lodging was provided for them at the county poor farm, but the colored men refused to remain there when they learned that the inmates were not locked in their rooms at night. After remaining for a few days, eating where they could and sleeping under disadvantages, the men walked from the town and boarded a train and left for towns where the opposition to their race is not so strong.

Brownstown has not had a colored person among its citizens for thirty years and although no threats have ever been made against them, the people have freely expressed their desire to keep colored people out of town. The four who came here from Louisville were hired to work on the courthouse roof and were the first colored men engaged for work on the courthouse. Heintzman Bros., of Indianapolis, have the general contract for the courthouse and have employed local laborers almost exclusively.

DISCRIMINATION

Charged Against Certain Lines By a Cement Company.

Alleging that gross discrimination is shown by railroads in favor of the Universal Portland Cement Company, both in the matter of rates and that of regulations for shipments, the Alpha Portland Cement Company, of Jersey City, N. Y., which operates cement plants in various places in the country, instituted Friday a complaint against the Baltimore and Ohio and practically all other carriers in the territory east of Chicago and in the Northwest.

The complainant avers that the Universal Portland Cement Company is controlled by the United States Steel Corporation and through that affiliation obtains freight rates which are materially lower than those granted to the Alpha Portland Cement Company.

The company requests that the rates on cement from its mill at Mannheim, W. Va., be equalized with those of the Universal Company, and that overcharges amounting to $7,801 in one year be returned. The bill gives the following comparisons between the rates charged by the railroads to the two companies: From Mannheim to Lexington, Ky., $2.80; distance, 385 miles. From Universal to Lexington, Ky., $2.20; distance, 411 miles. From Mannheim to Athens, Ohio, $1.75; distance, 170 miles. From Universal to Athens, Ohio, $1.40; distance, 210 miles. From Mannheim to Seymour and Mitchell, Ind., $2.80. From Universal to Seymour and Mitchell, $2.10 (distance one mile less from Mannheim than from Universal).

AN ELECTION.

Will Probably be Called at Crothersville by the "Drys."

The "dry" workers of Crothersville say that an election will probably be called to determine whether saloons shall return to the town. A campaign is being waged now to arouse and strengthen sentiment in the matter. Last Sunday night J. Raymond Schmidt of Seymour, the district superintendent of the prohibition party spoke at the Methodist church. Tomorrow evening, March 19, Rev. L. P. V. Williams, the evangelist will lecture at the Baptist church on "Civic Righteousness." The "drys" express confidence that an election in Crothersville would result in a victory for them.

TO KEEP LIMANTOUR OUT OF THE CAPITAL

Mexican Minister of Finance Facing Difficulties.

Monterey, Mexico, March 18.—From a revolutionary source it is reported here that orders have been issued from the rebel junta in San Antonio for the destruction of bridges on the lines of the National Railways of Mexico leading south from Laredo and Eagle Pass so as to prevent the passage into Mexico City of Jose Ives Limantour, minister of finance, who is due to reach the border today. Nor will he be permitted to reach Mexico City by any other route if it can be prevented by the rebels, it is reported. If Limantour reaches Mexico City at this time, one of two alternatives will be forced on the rebels.

They either will have to accept the plan of national reforms advocated by Limantour, or else be surrounded with much more drastic measures than have prevailed heretofore. Limantour's plan is said to be unacceptable to them, as they will be content with nothing less than the complete abdication of President Diaz. Nor do the rebels care for any more restrictive measures than those brought into existence when the individual guarantees were suspended two days ago in the Mexican congress. To stave off both alternatives they propose to keep Limantour from reaching Mexico City as long as possible and reaching a conference with Diaz.

Violated Decency Ordinance.

Spring Valley, Ill., March 18.—Alfred Baggalino, Pietro Naziero, Tadeo Caldero, Benny Zadili, and Romano Cunerio, five Spring Valley residents, were convicted of a violation of the city ordinances relating to obscene placards, and sentenced to serve six months in the county jail at Princeton. Posters they nailed up throughout the city on the morning of the primary election reflected on the city administration and were considered a breach of decency.

Sixty Forced to Leap For Life.

Milwaukee, March 18.—Fire in the plant of the Minn Billiard Table company spread so rapidly that sixty employees were forced to leap from second- and third-story windows. The financial loss is $100,000.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS FIRE

Origin of Blaze at Mitchell Is Not Known.

Mystery surrounds the origin of a $12,000 blaze at Mitchell Wednesday according to the Bedford Mail, which destroyed the office and a quantity of lumber in the yards of the R. D. Hostetler & Sons company and the office, coal sheds, ice house and scales of John Rodarmel.

The blaze was said to have originated in a lumber shed along some lumber, where there was never known to have been a fire of any kind. The fire spread rapidly and the office of the Hostetler company was soon in flames.

A number of the citizens who went to fight the fire succeeded in carrying out the Rodarmel office contents and saving all of the books and accounts.

There are some who are trying to place connection between the mysterious origin of the fire and the fact that Hostetler, in whose place the blaze started, was a leader of the dries in the recent election fight. Hostetler's office was said to have been the headquarters for the dries during the campaign.

JIMMY VALENTINE, WARDEN HANDLER AND ROSE LANE.

PROLOGUE.

You're not so sure about Jimmy Valentine as you might be—not until the very last chapter, when he "finds himself" in a scene that is as cleverly conceived as anything ever presented in American fiction or drama. What you are sure of as you read—very, very sure, in fact—is that you are following the story of a most interesting character, one whose doings on the stage have held the interest of many thousands. Jimmy Valentine becomes a "crook," with most of the failings and weaknesses of a man who doesn't recognize the difference between mine and thine, but he winds up as a well, read the story and find out for yourself how he winds up. It will be worth your while, for this absorbing, thrilling romance of both the under world and the upper world as well proves that a man has never sunk so low but that he may again regain the honor he has thrust aside when the true spirit of manhood throbs within him.

[The Armstrong drama, of which the following is the novelized version, is based on O. Henry's story, "A Retrieved Reformation."]

CHAPTER I.

THE warden's office in Sing Sing prison is not a pleasant spot in which to linger, whether you may be innocent or whether guilty of a crime. And no more reassuring could be termed the abrupt, dominating personage who presided over the dismal destinies of the office and institution when occurred the events chronicled in this narrative.

That a man fated by his choice of occupation to daily associate intimately with criminals of high and low degree and to come constantly in personal contact with all the misery and depravity going to form the life of a state's prison—that a man so fated should find exquisite enjoyment in accentuating these depressing conditions is surely a contradiction of what ordinarily would be expected. Humans of normal mold are generally occupied in ameliorating the evils and annoyances of their surroundings. That is nature's way. Not so with Warden Handler. That which is bad can be made to be worse. Innocence can be shown to be guilt—with the aid of trained witnesses. Repentance is always insincere, and if it is not it can be made so. A murderer should be made to remember always his ignominy. A thief should be reminded of his amateurish clumsiness which led him into the clutches of the central office men. That was Handler's philosophy. That was Handler's way.

And underlying all his petty oppression and gross inhumanity was a cause, deep rooted in a system of his own and of a race of jail keepers that went before him. Exposure? Removal? Bah! He had considered all that. And, if worse came to worse, had he not friends in the state senate? Was there not a governor who would need his assistance in the state convention when it came to a question of delegates? Clearly the possibility of removal was the least of his worries.

Warden Handler sat at his polished oak desk in the middle of his office. At his left was another desk used by Smith, his secretary. At his back the barred windows looked out into the prison yard, where at prescribed intervals gangs of convicts were allowed to take a brief outing to breathe in the air from the hills that mocked them, thus to prolong the lives of those who hoped to live as well as of those who hoped to die, thus to strengthen the nerves of the unfortunate whom justice had decreed must some day at sunrise go to a shadowy little stone room to sit in a sinister wooden chair equipped with stout straps and electric wires.

"CHICAGO WHITEY" HAD ESCAPED.

The warden was in his customary pessimistic mood. Good reason for it this time, too, for "Chicago Whitey," a trusty, doing a "bit" of seven years, had got through the guards and dropped over the wall on to the top of a car of an "up bound" freight train the evening before. Not a trace of him yet. Handler's pride in his record as a pen master was at stake, and he blamed himself and the whole universe for the official explanations which must soon be forthcoming. His dark eyes gleamed vengefully; his short cropped black hair fairly bristled with the rage that surged in the thick skull beneath it; his strong, square jaws were grimly set, though now and again his upper lip would curl slightly back as he gritted his teeth, revealing a row of tobacco stained incisors. Yes, Warden Handler was disturbed.

He fingered a glistening letter opener impatiently, and his lips seemed to move.

"Serves me right for makin' a 'trusty' out of a bloomin' yegg," he muttered. "Might have known one of them wouldn't stay put in one place any length of time, not even in a coffin."

The door at Handler's right opened. He half turned and glowered at a trusty who shuffled in, carrying a bottle of drinking water.

"It's pretty soft for you around here, eh?" grunted the warden.

The convict hastened to place the bottle in the holder at the sound of the official's voice. He then hurried toward the door, mumbling a faint "Yes, sir," as he went.

"Suppose he'll be tryin' the west wall next," commented Handler, pounding his fist on the desk. "But I'll trim 'em all yet. I'll!"

"A visitor for you," announced his secretary, Smith, entering. "His name is like a roll call in the German navy." He handed Handler a card.

The warden took the pasteboard.

"Blick-en-dol-fen-bach," he read slowly. "A man with a name like that has no right on the outside of a prison."

"What's his graft?"

"He has a letter from the state board of prisons. He has invented a lock, I believe, that—"

"Let's have him."

The secretary ushered in an earnest looking man with long, wavy black hair. He was short and thin.

"I am Gustave Blickendolfenbach, the great inventor," said the visitor to the warden. "I have a lock for you to inkeep the prisoners mit." He bowed to the warden and rubbed his hands complacently.

"So I hear. Your lock can't be picked, eh?"

The inventor raised his hands in horror at the suggestion.

"Picked! Picked!" he ejaculated.

"My lock picked? The whole world it haff tried it—Germany, France, England—and even the cleverest thieves in Naples. The whole wide world it all haff not open without they the key haff."

"So I've heard, but still it might be picked at that."

"It is maybe I don't understand picked—you mean open mit not my key?"

"Yes; with a wire or—"

"A wire?" exclaimed the inventor.

"My lock open—that I haff spend fourteen years to perfect? Nein. It is laughter, yas, but—"

Handler was growing impatient.

"It will be accepted only on the condition that it cannot be opened without a key," he pronounced.

The inventor drew himself up proudly. "Yaw, und I challenge the world," he cried confidently.

"Well, all the world's champions are in America, you know," answered the warden, "and when it comes to genius in mechanics most of them are in jail. We'll have it tried before noon."

The visitor took his precious lock from his pocket and laid it on the table in front of the warden, saying: "I keep the key. Now the world cannot my lock open."

"It looks good," commented Handler. "If you care to wait I'll have it tested."

"I wait, I lofe to see the expert frown and smile und give it up. It is my joy."

As the inventor went out to await the test George Doyle, a detective credited with a long list of important captures, entered the office and saluted Handler.

"Isn't Bill Avery to be let loose to-day?" queried the newcomer.

"Don't know. Is he?" returned the warden indifferently.

Doyle gazed at the other significantly.

"Yes," he said. "I hear he's very friendly with Jimmy Valentine. The way Valentine's lawyer is going after a new trial makes things look dangerous."

"What about the man you had make friends with Valentine in order to get him to talk about himself—to give himself away?" the warden asked shrewdly.

Doyle shrugged.

"Nothing to it. Valentine wouldn't get confidential with him, but if I could get Avery on my staff to work for me and squeal on Valentine I'd get him. I'd be able to keep him from getting a new trial."

Thus did the detective describe in his conversation a small part of the system which his fellow man hunters find of utility in serving their particular ends, whatever they may be—the "stool pigeon" system, which consists of forcing or persuading released criminals to spy on their companions and to convey to the police the information they procure.

Sometimes the detective uses the knowledge so gained for the purpose of arresting a fugitive, again for securing a division of ill gotten spoils, again for the purpose of obtaining witnesses who will find it policy to commit perjury at a trial, and so the underworld grows suspicious of its neighbors and finds danger lurking where friendship's smile is sought.

The warden resumed the conversation.

"I don't know about Avery's release," he said. "Oh, Smith," turning to his assistant, "where's the list?"

"On your desk."

"Oh, yes. Avery here?"

"He's waiting outside."

"Let's have him."

"He's a tough old boy, this Avery," commented Doyle, "but he's my one best chance in trying to get the goods on Valentine."

The secretary brought in Bill Avery, whose gray hair, ashen face and stooping figure indicated that prison fare was not rejuvenating, although there was a strange sharpness in his eyes, in his glance, that a long career of furtive watchfulness had developed.

"You're finally out, eh?" greeted the prison master. "You've done nine?"

"Eight years ten months, sir."

"Treated pretty well, weren't you?"

Avery gazed intently at Smith, then he replied to his questioner:

"You've never heard me complain, have you?"

"No, and it wouldn't have got you much."

"I saw that the first day in."

"Well, now what? Going to turn square?" Handler sneered as he spoke.

The released convict looked the warden squarely in the eyes.

"You know I am, sir."

Handler laughed uproariously.

"I know; they all say so. Oh, here's an old friend of yours, Avery." The speaker pointed to Doyle.

"I don't remember him," replied the old man after a searching-suspicious inspection of the detective.

"You don't remember me—eh, Bill?" Doyle laughed.

Avery suddenly exclaimed:

"I got you now. You're Doyle—still a copper?"

"Still a copper, Bill."

"You ain't got anything on me to hold over me when I get out."

"That's true, Bill. Anyway, this time I'm your friend," said the detective in earnest manner.

Avery threw his head back.

"My friend?" he exclaimed in astonishment.

The warden could barely suppress a grin.

"Yes; I think I know where I can get you a pretty good job," went on Doyle engagingly.

"Nobody wants me," said Avery despondently.

"I think I can arrange it."

"A job in a laundry, eh?" snapped the ex-prisoner. "I've been a wash-woman here."

"There are lots of jobs where you don't have to know a trade. Can't Bill sit down, warden?"

"Why, certainly," responded Handler.

Avery, voicing his thanks, seated himself at the warden's table.

Doyle came close to the old man.

"There's one thing you want to do, Bill, above everything else—keep out of bad company," he warned.

Avery hesitated. He glanced from the detective across to the warden.

"I'm getting out of bad company to-day," he replied briefly.

Doyle started forward.

"Yes, and it's a good thing you are, for you're getting away from Valentine."

"Valentine?"

"Yes," insisted Doyle. "It doesn't do you any good to know a man like that. I suppose you know he killed Cotton so he wouldn't have to divide the swag with him." The other shook his head decisively.

"I don't know anything about it."

The detective now spoke sharply.

"And what's he got against you?" He sent out word that—the questioner suddenly shifted—"what message did he give you to take out to—"

Avery drew back involuntarily.

"He didn't give me any message," he cried out in positive tones.

Then both the officials noticed that the ex-convict's eyes slowly drooped and became directed to the floor.

"I could do you a good turn—if you trailed along with me," suggested the detective.

The released criminal brushed aside the invitation. He rose stiffly from his chair.

"I'm on to you, Doyle. If you're to be my friend I know that I've got to be a stool pigeon, eh? Well, I'm old, and I don't know where I'm goin' when I leave here. But I'll take the river out there," pointing over his shoulder with his thumb, "for mine before I play that game. I tell you"—the old man's voice rose to an indignant pitch—"it's only fly guys like you, Doyle, that's too lazy or too ignorant to do their work themselves that has to have stool pigeons on your staff to do your work for you. Why, you couldn't nab a twelve-year-old 'dip' if you didn't have some poor nerve broken sucker of a 'stool' to go out ahead and make the job easy for you."

Both Doyle and the warden, enraged at the old man, lunged viciously at him to wreak vengeance upon him for his denunciation.

Mad March Hare Tea Party.

Mrs. L. B. Hill entertained very delightfully Friday afternoon with a Mad March Hare Tea Party. The decorations were in green and yellow in keeping with St. Patrick's Day. Throughout the house Irish flags and jonquils were in evidence.

The afternoon was greatly enjoyed with a number of unique games, consisting of "A Travel to Ireland" Irish joke bowl and several others. Excellent music was furnished during the afternoon. An elegant Mad March Hare luncheon was served. Ices were served in the shape of shamrocks, hares and Irish harps.

RICHART

A MAN'S NECKTIES.

Tie Said to Be the Voice of Inner Man.

Somebody has said that "the necktie is the voice of the inner man."

Probably that is the reason the average man invariably dislikes the ties his wife buys him unless they are white or black.

It is to be hoped that the florid middle aged man seen on the street the other day wearing a tie that looked like an exploded rainbow was christening his wife's choice. If that tie expressed "the inner man" the wearer was certainly "a hummer."

The authority for the tie as the voice of the inner man says also that when a man is in love his spirits are so exuberant that he flares out in the most impressionistic of ties. Pink and blue and purple and green are not too brilliant for him. After marriage he subsides into natural tints, save when he is going out for a good time with the boys, when a red tie seems to be the most significant of his mental mood. Wives may get a hint of their husbands' moods from the neckties they sport. If there is a pretty girl in a business office it is wise to watch out for gaiety in the neckwear.

If a man has grown indifferent and settled down into a certain monotony of life and thought he buys the six for a quarter kind at the bargain counter. If he's something of a top he tries several before he finds quite the right thing in which to approach the day's duties. Remember the story of Beau Brummel's valet, who, being asked concerning a basket of crumpled ties he was taking away, replied, "These, sir, are our failures."

A wife should lose no opportunity of gaining information relative to her husband's idiosyncrasies. The knowledge aids her in managing him. She should let him buy his own ties and keep her eyes open as to what he wears.

Tips For the Cook.

A tiny bit of butter is often an improvement to cake frostings, especially coffee, chocolate, maple or caramel.

A slight sprinkling of orange juice gives a delicate finishing touch to light wheaten pancakes served with butter and sugar. Lemon juice is often used in this way in European households.

In putting up school children's lunches it is not necessary to use always the same kind of bread. White wheat bread should be varied with whole wheat, graham, rye and Boston brown bread. The children will not only have the dietetic advantages of the peculiar qualities of each kind, but they will not grow tired so quickly of "plain bread and butter." Do not cut off the crusts of the bread and lose the nutriment which they contain.

To prevent baked potatoes from becoming soggy break the skins upon taking them from the oven. This gives the steam a chance to escape.

Dried cherries should be used in cookery oftener than they are at present. Soaked overnight and cooked in sugar next day, they make a nice sauce, which may well take the place of apples at this time of the year, when the latter fruit is apt to grow flavorless. They may also be used in cakes and sweet puddings instead of currants or in combination with them. In fact, they may be used in almost any recipe calling for currants. They have a piquancy which the currant lacks.

When bright red apples are to be made into sauce do not peel, but merely wash them well and quarter. Let them cook till tender and then press them through a potato ricer or very coarse sieve that will exclude only the skins and cores. Not only is the beautiful color of the apples preserved by this method of cooking, but there is much saving of good apple pulp which is more or less wasted with peeling.

Kerosene a Cleaner.

The soot that coats a frying pan can easily be taken off by sopping it with kerosene and scraping it off shortly afterward with a pot chain.

Kerosene should never be handled near the fire.

To cut the grease on the kitchen range kerosene is indispensable, but the stove should be perfectly cold before applying.

First dampen a rag with the oil and rub over the stove and follow this with a thorough rubbing with old newspapers, after which go over it with a rag dampened with a little benzine to evaporate the oil.

Do not build fire in the stove until this is evaporated, which will be generally a few hours.

Then wipe off nice and clean, after which give a coat of varnish. You will be surprised how little it will need blacking after the stove has been varnished.

The top is about the only part that becomes soiled and that will need to be attended to with brush and blacking. The rest will need nothing more than wiping off with a soft rag.

Putting kerosene and ammonia in water when washing glass ornaments will give them a brightened appearance.

Washing the window panes with kerosene will keep them from frosting in cold weather, while at the same time giving a brighter light within the rooms.

A Pretty Salad.

A pretty salad has celery and cream cheese for its foundation. Mash a 10 cent cream cheese and work with a fork until smooth. Mix with one-half cupful finely chopped celery and salt to season and make into little balls. Put a half English walnut meat on each side of every ball, arrange them on heart leaves of lettuce in the shape of a star, pour over all a French dressing and sprinkle with paprika.

WORTH WEIGHT IN GOLD

Lady Learned About Cardui, The Woman's Tonic and is Now Enthusiastic in its Praise.

Mount Pleasant, Tenn.—"Cardui is all you claim for it, and more," writes Mrs. M. E. Rail, of this place.

"I was a great sufferer for 2 years and was very weak, but I learned about Cardui, and decided to try it. Now I am in perfect health.

"My daughter, when changing into womanhood, got in very bad health. I gave her Cardui and now she enjoys good health.

"Cardui is worth its weight in gold. I recommend it for young and old."

Being composed exclusively of harmless vegetable ingredients, with a mild and gentle medicinal action, Cardui is the best medicine for weak, sick girls and women.

It has no harsh, powerful, near-poisonous action, like some of the strong minerals and drugs, but helps nature to perform a cure in a natural easy way.

Try Cardui.

CONVICT TRIES TO GET AT JUDGE

When Sentenced Anderson Thief Cried for Gun.

MADE A RUSH FOR THE JUDGE

Sensational Scene in the Court at Anderson When Sentence Was Passed Upon Youthful Housebreaker—Only Timely Interposition of Bailiff Prevented Forest Agnew From Making an Assault Upon Judge Bagot.

Anderson, Ind., March 18.—Having been convicted of robbing stores and residences in this city, Forest Agnew, aged twenty-one, was sentenced to prison for ten to twenty years. When Judge Bagot concluded the words of the sentence, Agnew shouted: "Gee, I wish I had a gun!"

The court told Agnew that he had had too much experience with guns, and, shaking his fist at the court, Agnew replied: "I will get you when I get out."

A moment later Agnew arose from his chair as if to rush at the judge, but Court Bailiff Black sprang between them and Agnew was quickly handcuffed by the deputy sheriff. He was taken to the reformatory at Jeffersonville.

THE FIRST PAY DAY

Is Likely to Be Occasion of Trouble at San Antonio.

San Antonio, March 18.—Provision is to be made against the first pay day, which will come in the beginning of April. A squadron of the Fourth cavalry, now doing patrol duty along the border, is to be summoned to the big camp here to act as a provost guard. General Carter is not taking any chances on a repetition of the affray that occurred in Galveston last week, when some of the soldiers assembled there ran amuck and started lots of trouble.

There will be about 15,000 men with money in their pockets swarming the questionable San Pedro district of San Antonio on the night of pay day. Mexicans and negroes live beyond the little brigantine ditch which bounds San Antonio's red light quadrangle, and there is every opportunity for some soldier with his pay liquidated to start something. Up to the present there have been only a few arrests of soldiers, and the provost guard, composed of men of the Twenty-second infantry, who know the town has had little work on its hands.

A WORD TO MEXICO

Note From State Department in the Matter of Blatt and Converse.

Washington, March 18.—Huntington Wilson, acting secretary of state, has sent a formal request to the Mexican government asking that Edwin M. Blatt of Pittsburg and Lawrence F. Converse of Glendora, Cal., the two Americans in confinement at Juarez on a charge of participating in the revolution, be kept in more sanitary quarters. This action was taken upon the receipt of information from the relatives of the young men that their cells were unhealthful. Blatt and Converse, according to the view held by the state department, were kidnapped on American soil and taken across the Rio Grande, where they were surrendered to Mexican soldiers. Several days ago a formal request for their release was sent to the Mexican government. So far, however, no reply has been received.

To Head Important Committee.

Washington, March 18.—Representative John J. Fitzgerald of New York will be chairman of the committee on appropriations in the house. The appropriations committee, which frames the big supply bills, will be increased from nineteen to twenty-one members. The chairmanship is regarded as the most important in the house organization. Such men as James A. Garfield, Samuel J. Randall and Joseph G. Cannon have filled it in the past. James A. Tawney of Minnesota is the retiring head of the committee.

Convicted on Bribery Charge.

Cincinnati, March 18.—Jacob Baasch, first member of the Cox organization, tried in connection with the indictments returned by the present grand jury, was found guilty on a bribery charge. This jury has also in dicted Cox and charged perjury.

A Boy and a Gun.

Chicago, March 18.—Hugo Ross accidentally shot and perhaps fatally wounded his mother, Mrs. Sophie Ross, while he was cleaning a rifle in their home in Irving Park. The shot tore off part of her right arm and entered her breast.

Work in Alton Shops Suspended. Bloomington, Ill., March 18.—Due to the marked reduction in freight traffic as a result of the mild weather, the Chicago & Alton management has suspended the shops here indefinitely, throwing 1,200 men out of employment.

THE ADVICE OF A FRIEND

Given to Those Who Need It.

San Francisco, Cal.—"To any one who is run down or who needs a good blood purifier, I want to recommend Vinol the great cod liver and iron tonic. I was run down, feeling badly and only weighed 140 pounds. I took a course of Vinol—it purified my blood, gave me a fine appetite, and built me right up. Now I am well and strong, weigh 175 pounds, and, in fact never felt better in my life." John S. Charles, 3264 17th St., San Francisco Cal. (We guarantee this testimonial to be genuine.)

Vinol is a delicious combination of the health-giving properties of the cod's liver, with the grease eliminated, and tonic iron added, blended in a mild medicinal wine.

If your blood is poor or sluggish; your appetite poor, your digestion weak or your vitality not up to the standard, or if you are suffering from chronic coughs, colds or bronchial troubles, try a bottle of Vinol with the understanding that your money will be returned if it does not do what all these people claim for it did for them if it was not honest.—Andrews-Schwenk Drug Co.

RESIDENT OF A CITY

Cannot Be Taxed For Township Unit Expense.

If the people of Jackson township outside of the city of Seymour, decide to hold an option election under the Proctor law the citizens of the city will not be taxed for the election. In several places there has been some question regarding this point but in the office of the attorney-general, the state board of accounts, and the auditor of state, it has been unofficially held that the citizens of an incorporated town can not be compelled to pay any township tax whatever, except the poor tax, which some authorities hold is not really a township tax, but a county tax.

The Proctor act provides that the expense of such elections in townships shall be paid out of the township fund and although residents of incorporated towns are to be permitted to vote on the question they will not, under the present interpretation of the law, be compelled to help to pay the cost of such an election.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from ten drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

BOX CAR RED.

Will Be the Prevailing Color of B. & O. S.-W. Property.

In the future a box car red will be the prevailing color around the property of the B. & O. S.-W. Railroad Co. instead of the light green shade. All frame depots, freight houses, watchmen's shanties and telephone booths are to be repainted a box-car red. This is the predominating color on the B. & O. proper and the same shade will be extended along the line of the Southwestern.

Gangs of painters will be sent out from Cincinnati and St. Louis in the near future who will do the work and by the end of the summer it is expected the task will have been completed. Each gang will work toward the local shops and will cover all the branch lines of the system painting all company buildings a box-car red. The painters will arrive in Seymour in a short time and will begin their work.

NO FOOD OR SHELTER THERE FOR NEGROES

Indiana Town Has Not Had Colored Resident for Years.

Brownstown, Ind., March 18.—By its action yesterday, when four negroes who had come here to work for a contractor left for their homes in Kentucky, this place retains its reputation as being no place for a colored man. The colored men had been here for two days and had found it impossible to get anything to eat or a place to sleep. No one would furnish them meals or would supply them with beds. They slept in a shed on a vacant lot just outside the town limits, and all they could get to eat was what a woman furnished them through charity. She refused to take pay for what she gave them, and advised them to leave because of the intolerant spirit of the whites. There has not been a colored resident here for thirty years. The people do not offer violence, they simply refuse to give food and shelter to colored people.

WOMEN OPEN FIRE

One Officer Killed and Another Wounded in Attempting Arrest.

Bristol, Tenn., March 18.—A special from Long Fork, Ky., says Deputy Marshal J. M. Potter, with Charles Smith and Garfield Smallwood of Pikeville, entered the Long Fork section to arrest Charles Tackitt, aged twenty, charged with "moonshining." Tackitt, though armed, surrendered without resistance, but his aged mother, together with her daughters, Mamie, aged sixteen, and Bettie, eighteen, gave battle. The mother with a six-shooter and the older daughter with a 16-gauge shotgun, opened fire. A the first shot Deputy Potter retreated. When several shots had been exchanged Smith fell mortally wounded. Smallwood lost a finger.

Used Mails to Defraud, It Is Alleged.

Louisville, Ky., March 18.—W. Young Kinleyside, president, and William Russell, secretary of the Southwestern Wireless company, have been indicted on a charge of using the mails to defraud. The government alleges they stated their company had $500,000 worth of paid-up stock, when it did not.

Carrie Nation's Condition Serious. Leavenworth, Kan., March 18.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the militant Kansas temperance worker, who is at a sanitarium here, is growing weaker. Her condition, which is due to a general breakdown, is regarded as serious.

EACH SIDE WORRIED OVER LOCAL OPTION

Though "Drys" Win First Test
In Illinois House.

Springfield, Ill., March 17.—County local option had its first test in this legislature in the house. The issue arose over a minor matter, but the "wets" and the "drys" mustered every available vote. The "drys" won on two roll calls, the first by a vote of 79 to 62, the second by a vote of 83 to 56.

Incidentally, for the first time in three sessions of the legislature the old bipartisan combination was defeated on the floor of the house in a show-down.

The test came on a bill introduced by Representative G. H. Wilson of Quincy, chairman of the temperance committee, which has reported out the county option bill. It prohibits saloons within two-thirds of a mile of the soldiers' home at Quincy.

Close analysis showed there is little actual difference in strength between the "wets" and "drys." The settlement of the election contests in which the ballots are held by the Chicago board of election commissioners in defiance of the demand of the elections committee of the house may settle the fate of county option. Almost the solid strength of the Cook county delegation went into the "wet" column.

The local option leaders are pleased, but not over enthusiastic over the prospects. The conservative opinion is that county option, as shown by this passage at arms, is the tightest proposition which confronts the legislature. Each side is worried.

FELL INTO AMBUSH

But Two of a Squad of Federals Escape Rebel Attack.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, March 17.—The report that fifty rebels were killed and twenty-five captured in an encounter with federals near Nativitas, state of Tlaxcala, two days ago, is confirmed by arrivals here from that section. It is stated that the federals lost fifteen killed and thirty wounded.

Mexico City, March 17.—A report has been received of a battle between federals and rebels in El Redo in Sonora. Confirmation has come of the fact that out of fifty federals engaged but two escaped. Twenty-seven were killed and twenty-one wounded. Colonel Anguino, who commanded the federals, is among the dead. His command, which was a part of the Seventh battalion, had been sent after the rebels who were known to be hiding in the mountains. The federals fell into an ambush in a narrow canon and were literally cut to pieces. It is asserted that the rebels numbered 200 men and that they suffered no loss in the fight.

WOMEN REGISTER

In Milwaukee Ten Thousand of Them Go to Polling Booths.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 17.—With Milwaukee women given their first chance to vote this year, the polling booths were monopolized almost exclusively by women who registered, with the result that several thousand will be entitled to take part in the primaries on March 21 and the election on April 4.

The women will have an opportunity to express their choice for members of the school board and on a $320,000 school bond question. No complete figures on the registration may be obtainable for some days, but the number of women voters is expected to be in the neighborhood of 10,000. Club women were largely represented.

Many Socialists brought out their wives, as the party which now controls the city and county government wishes to control the school board also.

UNNECESSARY BAGGAGE.

Text, "Regard not your stuff."—Gen. xlv. 20.

"Stuff" has come to mean the valueless, the hardly worth while. "I won't accept such stuff," says the housewife to her storekeeper. "I won't eat such stuff," sulks the spoiled child. "You can't tell me such stuff," says the knowing one. The mother emptying her boy's pockets of string, bits of glass, horse chestnuts, nails, etc., says, "Why, Tommy, such stuff!" When you go to move you start a bonfire in the yard or call in the rag man. You're not going to move all that stuff! Joseph is down in Egypt, rich, powerful, prime minister, sits next to Pharaoh on the throne. He is going to send up to Canaan for his father to come live at Goshen, the rich country of Egypt. The king is interested and sends a special message: "Come down here and live. Bring all that is worth while, but don't bother with unnecessary things; regard not your stuff; all the good of the land of Egypt is yours." Think of the load of stuff Jacob would accumulate in his long life—wornout leather water bottles, old tents, threadbare blankets, rickety wagons, household equipment, broken down camels and such things. God's in heaven. Full of mercy, he sends his conveyances and our elder brother to bring us to the rich lands of heaven—and, oh, the stuff we would take along!

Heaven's Values.

Here comes an earth pilgrim puffing up the celestial road to the gate of heaven. In his pack he has a fur, two corner lots, some gilt edge stock, a fine bundle of mortgages and bonds and some other valuables. "What stuff's that?" says the angel at the gate. "Stuff!" gasps the astonished pilgrim. "That's my property—what I was worth when I died down yonder. I spent fifty years accumulating all that; many's the sacrifice I made to do it too." "I don't doubt that," replies the gatekeeper, "but it doesn't pass current here. That isn't the coin of this realm. Here's another mortal I'm afraid has made the same error." A second pilgrim has plumped down his pack with an air of confident assurance. "What have you there, friend?" asks he of the shining robe. "It's some baggage I thought I would need—my good intentions, my excuses for sins, my prejudices, my theology, my bigotry and my righteousness. I thank goodness I am not as other men are—this worldly fellow, for instance, with his vulgar material possessions." "My good friend," replies the heavenly porter, "you've blundered, like the Pharisees of old. Your error is as great as your neighbor's here. He brought material things instead of spiritual, and you have brought only the shadow of spiritual things—rather, an imitation of them. That catechism under your arm and that church letter sticking from your pocket are good things, of course, but only as they stand for something real possessed, just as your dollar mark stands for a dollar, but isn't a dollar. You've carried up husks—stuff!"

Excess Baggage.

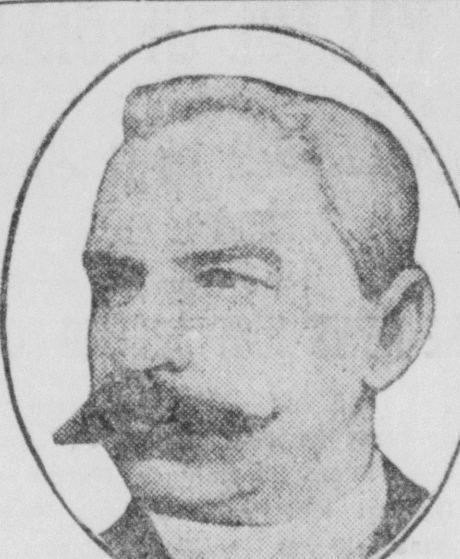

The railroad company puts on your ticket the amount of baggage you may carry; beyond that is "excess baggage." Ever watch a traveling salesman "hefting" his trunks? We humans are great baggage carriers. We're leaving Sodom, of course, but loaded down with trinkets, like Lot's wife and daughters. Heaven knows we must carry burdens enough with our responsibilities to the state, to society, to our families. The tasks of everyday life are large too. When you add sickness and misfortune the load is mighty burdensome. Some smile bravely, some go on in dogged silence, some go insane, others take their lives. Society is busy trying to equalize the load, and—God forgive us—we frequently stand off and call ugly names to those who are trying to help. However, if you think your end of the log is the heaviest glance toward the other fellow, speculate as to the size, shape and quality of the burden he carries. Honestly, would you like to trade? If you could you would be back tomorrow asking for your own life again. God fits the back to the burden. It's the unnecessary, the excess load that fags us. Society and self sometimes put on the straw that breaks the camel's back.

The "Stuff" of Sin.

Society women sometimes tell us frankly of the unutterable weariness of walking the vain show. Millionaires tell us of ruined nerves and that "millionaires don't laugh." Mere pleasure seekers tell with a blase tone of following a will-o'-the-wisp. A certain ambitious king cried when there seemed no more worlds to conquer. And still another who had touched the heights, depths and breadths of human enjoyments cried, "Vanity of vanities, all is vanity." "Stuff," don't you see. Of all the unnecessary baggage we carry the "stuff" of sin is the most so and is the heaviest. We get so little out of it here and nothing hereafter. Adam and Eve were to "be as gods"—you know the result. Achan buried his stolen gold; it buried him. Gehazi hoped to be covered with a scarlet robe, but found leprosy instead. Judas received his thirty pieces of silver; all it bought was a grave. Ananias and Sapphira lied about their land and weren't even buried in it. Like grabbing for your hat when it blows off from your canoe. Our sense of value is wrong.

RAMON CORRAL

Vice President of Mexico
Returns to the Capital.

Mexico City, March 17.—Vice President Corral has left Tehuacan. He has been ill there since the inauguration last December, and he is not yet fully recovered. He is expected to reach here today. His sudden homecoming has not been explained, but it is believed that he has been summoned to confer with the other high government officials concerning the situation.

THE ARTFUL DODGER IS FINALLY RETAKEN

Jumped Bail At Indianapolis and Went to New York.

New York, March 17.—At the Hotel Martineau, where he was staying, Charles Meyers, forty-five years old, alias Edward N. Miller, sometimes called "the artful dodger" and "the western colonel," with a police record beginning in Chicago in 1884 and involving New Orleans, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Cleveland and New York, was arrested here and arraigned in the Jefferson Market police court on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

He is wanted in Indianapolis on a burglary charge on which he was arrested in September, 1910. He jumped $1,500 bail and disappeared. On Jan. 27 of this year he was arrested in New York on another burglary charge, which was dismissed. He was held for nine days in the Tombs while the police were busy trying to see if anyone wanted him. The day after he was discharged they received the telegram from Indianapolis, and they have been hunting for him ever since.

His alleged method is to hire a room without a bath at a good hotel and then stay in the rooms of other guests while apparently in quest of cleanliness. He was sentenced to five years in jail for a burglary in New Orleans in 1897, but escaped.

Twenty Years For Mrs. Melber.

Albany, N. Y., March 17.—The jury in the case of Mrs. Edith Melber, charged with the murder of her four-year-old son last January, brought in a verdict of murder in the second degree. Mrs. Melber was immediately sentenced to serve not less than twenty years in prison.

Will Stick to One Subject.

Augusta, Ga., March 17.—The message the president will send to the special session of congress is expected to be brief, and it is understood that it will be confined to the one subject—reciprocity with Canada.

Changes in the Diaz cabinet and administrative reforms in the government are about to be made in Mexico as a means of placating the revolutionists.

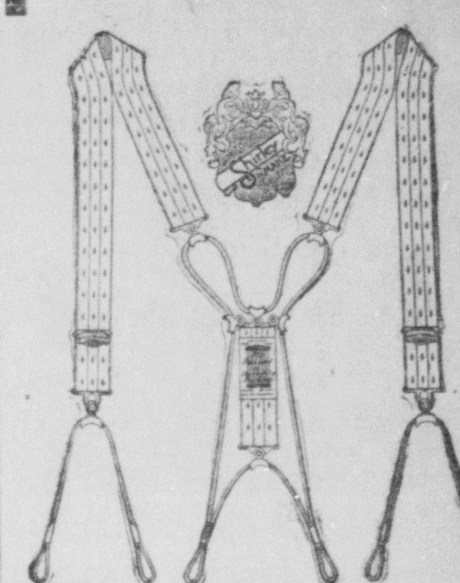

Rebels bands have appeared in the state of Coahuila, Mexico, and the line of the Mexican Central division of the National Railways of Mexico is still out of commission.

The Chinese government declares its intention of agreeing to both points at issue with Russia and is now drafting a reply to the recently received ultimatum along this line.

The Diaz government has suspended the constitutional guarantee throughout Mexico. This is a mild form of martial law and provides a death penalty for all persons convicted of certain crimes.

In a statement issued from the Sheehan headquarters it was directly charged that Wall street and the so-called big interests were standing solidly back of the insurgents in their campaign against Mr. Sheehan's candidacy for United States senator from New York.

Mystery Connected With Absence of Rev. Crane.

INCIDENT OF OPTION FIGHT

Pastor of the Christian Church at Redkey, who had been the leader of the "drys," is alleged to have appeared on the streets drunk, following which he disappeared, and "drys" charge conspiracy.

Redkey, Ind., March 18.—In this city the local option fight has taken on a phase which has divided churches, families and long-time friends, and the bitterness is unprecedented. Rev. William Crane, pastor of the Christian church, was the leader of the "drys" until a week ago, when he appeared on the streets drunk and soon after left the city, deserting his family. It is charged by the "drys" that he was drugged by the "wets" and was then advised to leave the city to escape the disgrace of the condition in which they had placed him. Crane had once been a drinking man and once said if he ever took a drink it would prove his complete downfall. What means was used to get him to take a drink is not known, but he appeared on the streets intoxicated and disappeared before he sobered up. He has not since been seen.

SLAIN FROM AMBUSH

Cold-Blooded Murder Stirs the Police at South Bend.

South Bend, Ind., March 18.—Stephen Markovic and Stephen Sanon were ambushed on their way home from downtown by John and Stephen Horvath, and Markovic was instantly killed. Sanon suffered severe wounds. The murder was the second in twelve hours, John O'Connor having met death in a mysterious saloon brawl. He was found by the police behind a stove with his skull crushed. The murder of Steve Markovic was cold-blooded and the police believe that the assailants also intended to kill the second man, as the four men quarreled at a dance recently. The police arrested John Horvath a half hour after the murder, but the brother has not been arrested.

Those Wolves Cease From Troubling. Muncie, Ind., March 18.—The reign of terror in the suburb of Whitely, following the escape from McCulloch park of three wolves, is at an end. The last of the animals has been killed. One by one the wolves have been "picked off" by farmers and others, against whose chicken roosts and smokehouses the animals have been making depredations.

FAMOUS DOCTOR'S PRESCRIPTION.MOB STONES THE PALACE OF DIAZ

Significant Outbreak in City of Mexico.

THE NEWS JUST GETTING OUT

Significant Incident That Had Been Kept From Becoming a Matter of General Knowledge by the Rigid Censorship, is Now Being Discussed on This Side the Border—Police Unprepared For Demonstration.

El Paso, Tex., March 18.—News from Chihuahua is that seventy federalists who were guarding the Ortiz bridge were all killed by the revolutionists and their arms taken. Nearly all the soldiers were killed at the bridge, and those who retreated were followed to Meoqui and killed when that town was captured a few hours after the destruction of the bridge.

San Antonio, March 18.—There have just become public here reports of a serious demonstration against the person of President Diaz of Mexico, which took the form of the stoning of his official palace in Mexico City by a mob of insurrecto sympathizers. An American who has official connection with the United States government and who witnessed the incidents himself, is the one who has broken the rigorous censorship exercised at the southern capital, which has been so strong that not only has the event been kept from the press outside of Mexico, but the echo of it has only begun to penetrate by word of mouth to the northern provinces. It may be said that there is strong likelihood that a report of the occurrence is already in the hands of the state department at Washington. The stoning of Diaz's palace came so suddenly that the police, utterly unprepared for the demonstration, were unable to disperse the mob before much glass had been shattered and the guests of the president who were in the palace at the time had been badly frightened. It is said that there were not many whole windows left on that side of the palace exposed to the stone throwers.

The President Kept Cool.

The demonstration occurred about 9 o'clock in the evening, when the streets centering about the official residence were filled with people. Suddenly there was a movement in the crowd and out of cafes adjacent there poured as if by preconcerted signal, several hundred men and young boys. With shouts of "Vive Madero," they let fly first one shower of stones and then a second. The whole thing was over in five minutes. As it was learned later, Diaz himself coolly commanded one of his aides to run out and see why the police did not act. The police did act, but not before the crowd had begun to scatter. There were several arrests.

The significance of the report lies in the fact that this is the first demonstration against the Diaz government and Diaz himself that has occurred in the federal district of Mexico since the present revolt against his rule began.

Arms For the Insurrectos.

In the light of a report from Washington that the department of justice is at a loss to know how far the United States may proceed in the matter of stopping shipments of arms and ammunition from reaching the insurrectos, a news item that became public here takes importance. It is learned that four carloads of rifles and cartridges from New York left Galveston over the Southern Pacific railroad, consigned in small batches to hardware dealers all along the border from San Antonio to Yuma, Ariz. Nobody in the federal district attorney's office here knows how he can interfere with the delivery of the war munitions, since they are all consigned to merchants on American soil. But secret service agents working along the border will keep their eyes on the final disposition of the rifles.

Rebels Driven Off.

Guadalajara, Mexico, March 18.—The town of Navajua, state of Sinaloa, was attacked by 100 revolutionists, but they were driven off by the garrison of twenty-five federalists, assisted by thirty-five residents of the town. According to the official report of the engagement, sixteen rebels were killed.

NIGHT RIDER CHARGE FAILED TO HOLD GOOD

Dr. Amoss Was Acquitted By Jury At Hopkinsville.

Hopkinsville, Ky., March 18.—The verdict returned by the twelve men who had sat in the case of Dr. David Amoss, alleged commander-in-chief of the night riders, was as follows: "We, the jury, find the defendant not guilty, as charged in the indictment."

Amoss was alleged to have led the raid on the city of Hopkinsville, Dec. 5, 1907. A mob, said to have been composed of hundreds of men from Christian, Caldwell, Trigg and Lyon counties, swooped down on the city late at night, and burned and wrecked property valued at half a million of dollars. The largest loss was the destruction of a warehouse owned by John C. Latham, then a New York banker, in which was stored a vast quantity of tobacco, part of it owned by the Italian government. Amoss's defense was an alibi. The cases of Guy Dunning, J. B. Malone, Newton Nichols and Irving Glass, also charged with having participated in the Hopkinsville raid, remain to be tried.

TERSE TELEGRAMS

Anna Rogstad has taken her seat in the storting, she being the first woman in Norway to sit in parliament.

The New York expressmen are again on strike and express wagons are making deliveries guarded by policemen.

Three men were killed and four others severely injured by an explosion in the mill of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company at Pueblo.

A total of 3,237 militia officers have been designated by the adjutant generals of the different states to go to San Antonio as observers.

AN OLIVER DAY IS OBSERVED

The Union Hardware Company Has a Big Display of Plows and Cultivators.

MANY FARMERS VISIT STORE

One of the Important Establishments in Seymour.—A Big Store and a Big Business.

"Oliver Day" is one day of the year given over by dealers who handle Oliver plows and cultivators, to the display of this line. The Union Hardware Company handles these goods in Seymour and this was "Oliver Day" at their establishment.

The farmers had been notified that this was to be the great day and many of them visited the store. The proprietors, C. H. Ahlbrand and George Breitfield and Mr. Lauree, of Indianapolis, and E. H. Williams, of Franklin, Oliver representatives, greeted the callers. They were much gratified at the interest shown by the farmers in the display.

The Oliver line comprises walking and riding plows and cultivators. This line has been handled at this store for forty years and by the present firm seventeen years. The firm has by its enterprise and hustling business methods built up a remarkable trade on the Oliver goods. For the past three years it has been the banner Oliver agency in Indiana. It is said that 80 per cent. of the plows used in Jackson county are of the Oliver make.

There is hardly a farmer in Jackson county who is not using one of the Oliver plows or cultivators and some have from four to twelve.

There is of course no better line in the world than the Oliver and one advantage in the use of these goods here is that new shares or parts that may be missing or broken at any time can be secured promptly at the Union aggravating delays in the busy season which so often occurs when plows of other makes are broken.

The Union Hardware Company has not only made a big success as distributors of Oliver goods, but in its business generally. The store was established in 1867 by L. D. Carpenter, and Mr. Ahlbrand and Mr. Breitfield have been the proprietors since 1894. Both are men of long experience in the business. They treat people fairly and honestly, handle the best goods and have reasonable prices and as a consequence their business grows year by year. They not only do a large retail business but also have an excellent wholesale business.

They have nearly 25,000 feet of floor space in their buildings. They have a large double store on South Chestnut street with a frontage of 57 feet and a depth of 130 feet.

The north room is for the display of their vehicles and implements and upstairs the surplus and duplicate goods in these lines are kept. In the south room the stoves and general hardware lines are carried. The upper floor in this building is used as a store room for sash, doors and such goods.

The firm has a tin and slate roofing department and also a harness department, manufacturing all of the harness they sell.

Across the street they have a large brick wareroom used for their lumber business. They handle shingles, lath, fence posts and all kinds of builders' materials. They also do contracting and have averaged building about fifteen houses a year for several years past.

The handling of farm and garden seeds is an important feature of the company's business. There are few houses in southern Indiana having a larger annual volume of business in this line. Large quantities of northern seed oats and northern seed potatoes are sold annually.

It would be difficult, in fact, impossible to enumerate all of the goods or all of the lines the Union Hardware Company carries. They sell the Stud-baker buggies and wagons, Hoosier wheat drills and planters, binders and mowers, disc harrows and all kinds of farm implements of the best makes. Wire fencing, patent churns, cream separators, washing machines, sewing machines and many kinds of modern labor saving machines of different kinds are to be found in their estab-
